

resonating time, radiating time

|

luke martin

July 2017

for Ordinary Affects

listen;

a single source
 for some time.

two sources
 for some time.

many sources
 for some time.

(ir)regular demarcations and repetitions
comings and goings
in shadowy abundance

zones of potential
temporal resonance —
varying densities
folding into
each other
and you
a swarming texture
of speed and direction

a few times (more or less)
make a soft sound of any length small experiments in

radiating time;
occasional passing
patches of warmth
luminous and without origin