

potentially together (2) |

luke martin

November 2017

an event for a potential group (an invitation).

Saturday, February 24
12 PM (Eastern Standard Time (US)*)

timings should be converted from EST to wherever you are locally at the above time: while remaining silent, listen to your environment.

do so for 30 minutes.

this is, generally, meant to be realized by many solo performers in different places.

however, as long as some people potentially involved remain separate / in different locations, others may gather together in groups to realize it, if they wish.

though people are welcome to, there is no need to confirm participation in this event.

the time given above is recurring. in other words, this event will occur every year at that particular time.

you may document your realization in any way (photo, video, audio, text, etc.); this is not a requirement.
should you decide to document your realization, you may upload it to this shared folder [\[link\]](#) or email it to me at lucasmartin@alum.calarts.edu.